35 Ways to Help a Grieving Child

The Dougy Center Staff

- Provides suggestions for helping grieving children cope with the death of a loved one.
- Age Appropriate: Adults

A Birthday Present for Daniel

Juliet Rothman

- A little girl's brother has died. She shares with readers what this means to her. She tries to understand her own feelings and those of her mother, father, and sister, illustrating that there are different ways that people can react when someone they love dies.

A Tiny Boat at Sea

Izetta Smith

- Practical suggestions for talking with kids when a parent was diagnosed with cancer
- Age Appropriate: Adults

Handbook of Adolescent Death and Bereavement

Charles Corr, PhD; David Balk, PhD

- In this comprehensive handbook, Charles Corr and David Balk improve our understanding of the challenges faced by adolescents when coping with death, dying, and bereavement. They establish normative adolescents, and explain developmental tasks that are typical of early, middle, and late adolescence.

After a Murder: A Workbook for Kids

The Dougy Center Staff

- An interactive workbook that helps to explain confusing elements specific to a murder.
- Age Appropriate: Children

After a Suicide: A Workbook for Kids

The Dougy Center Staff

- Workbook for children who have been exposed to a suicide.
- Age Appropriate: Children

After Charlotte's Mom Died

Cornelia Spelman

- After Charlotte's mother's sudden death, Charlotte and her father are devastated. A counselor helps them find ways to talk and to build hope for their futures. Realistic facial expressions and body language in the softly colored illustrations complement the clarity of this story for children aged grades K-4.

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

After You Lose Someone You Love

Amy, Allie, and David Dennison

- This is a Journal that was written by three ordinary children whose lives were forever changed when one night their father died unexpectedly and suddenly. Of course, the world of this family fell apart. From these journal entries and drawings they reweave their lives until they came to realize they were moving forward on a journey called grief.

Bereaved Children and Teens

A. Grollman

- Bringing together fourteen experts from across the United States and Canada, Bereaved Children and Teens is a comprehensive guide to helping children and adolescents cope with the emotional, religious, social, and physical consequences of a loved one's death.

Can You Hear Me Smiling?: A Child Grieves a Sister

Aairane R. Jackson

- In the powerful and touching picture book, nine-year-old Aairane talks about dealing with the loss of her sister who died at the age of twelve. The book centers on the range of emotions Aairane feels while she grieves during this troublesome time.

Fire in My Heart, Ice in my Veins

E. Traisman

- Teens can write letters, copy down meaningful lyrics, and write songs and poems, tell the person who died what they want them to know, finish business and use their creativity to work through the grieving process.

Guiding Your Child Through Grief

James P. Emswiler and Mary Ann Emswiler

- Guiding Your Child Through Grief is written by a husband-and-wife team and based on their experiences as founders of The Cove (a program for grieving children) and the New England Center for Loss & Transition as well as their own personal experiences with grief. This well-researched book covers all ages, including the teenage years.

Helping A Grieving Student

The Dougy Center Staff

- Guide Book to help Teachers and administrators deal with grieving students
- Age Appropriate: Adults

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

Healing A Teen's Grieving Heart: 100 Practical Ideas for Families, Friends and Caregivers

A. Wolfelt

- A compassionate resource for friends, parents, relatives, teachers, volunteers, and caregivers, this series offers suggestions to help the grieving cope with the loss of a loved one. Often people do not know what to say, or what not to say, to someone they know who is mourning; this series teaches that the most important thing a person can do is listen, have compassion, be there for support, and do something helpful.

Helping Bereaved Children: A Handbook for Practitioners

Nancy Boyd Webb

- This is a book that all who are concerned with helping bereaved children should read. The cases provide an understanding of how children deal with death in their own words, as well as rare first-hand reflections from the therapists that will facilitate the reader's ability to replicate the interventions.

Helping Children Cope With Death

The Dougy Center Staff

- Overview of how children grieve and strategies of how to help them cope.
- Age Appropriate: Adults

Helping Teens Cope With Death

The Dougy Center Staff

- Guidebook that covers grieving responses of teens.
- Age Appropriate: Adults

How It Feels When a Parent Dies

J. Kremetz

- 18 children from age 7 - 17, speak openly of their experiences and feelings. As they speak we see them in photos with their surviving parent and with other family members, in the midst of their everyday lives.

I Will Never Forget You: A Teen Journal of Love and Remembrance

Emilio Parga

- Journal designed to help teens articulate their feelings in the grieving process.

I Will Remember You: A Guidebook Through Grief for Teens

Laura Dower

- Just as death is a part of life, grieving is a part of living. For teens, this can be a particularly painful lesson to learn. This book is an inspirational and accessible guide to coping with loss. It includes personal stories of death and life from real teens, advice from a renowned grief counselor, and dozens of hands-on creative exercises to help teens move through their pain and sorrow . . . into tomorrow

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

Isabelle's Dream: A Story and Activity Book for a Child's Grief Journey

Betsy Bottino Arenella

- Story about two sisters in which Sophia visits Isabelle in a dream.
- Appropriate for Children

Living With Grief: Children, Adolescents and Loss

K. Doka

- Images of sobbing teens being lead away from shootings are burned in our memories. The 19 chapters in this book address the impact of loss on our children, and the nation's consciousness. Articles by the nation's leading thanatologists and grief counselors on grief and bereavement in children and adolescents are interspersed with articles by children who have experienced tragic loss.

Losing Someone You Love: When a Brother or Sister Dies

E. Richter

- Sixteen young people between the ages of 10 and 24 recall siblings they loved and express their loss. They describe their own feelings and reactions and the outside pressures that accompany the death of their sibling, sharing their experiences so that others who experience the same loss will not feel alone.

Love Never Stops: A Memory Book for Children

Emilio Parga, M.A.

- This book is a way for children to wrap words around their experience of grief.

Never the Same: Coming to Terms with the Death of a Parent

Donna. Schuurman

- Time does not heal all wounds, warns grief counselor Donna Schuurman in her brave and practical book about the challenges adults face in coming to terms with the loss of a parent before age 18. Her premise in Never the Same defies the common wisdom. "Forget the stages of grief. There is no magical moment when you can say, it's over."

No Child Should Grieve Alone: A Guide for Parents, Caregivers, and Professionals

Emilio Parga, M.A.

- This book offers a wealth of valuable resources for children and adolescents who have experienced a loss, as well as for their parents, teachers, counselors and other caregivers.

Ocho Loved Flowers

Anne Fontaine

- A tender story told by a young girl who discovers that her beloved cat, Ocho, is sick and not going to get well. She learns how to face the news, care for him during his terminal illness, grieve when he dies, and cherish his memory.

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

Parenting Through Crisis: Helping Kids in Times of Loss, Grief, and Change

Barbara Coloroso

- This book is a great resource for parents dealing with various kinds of loss and gives techniques and suggestions for how to help parents in a positive way while also dealing with these tough changes.

Rachel And The Upside Down Heart

E. Douglas

- A true story of how Rachel rediscovers happiness while keeping the memory of her father alive in her heart.

Raising our Children to be Resilient: A guide to Helping Children Cope with Trauma in Today's World

L. Goldman

- In this timely and much-needed book, Linda Goldman addresses the many frightening events that impact our children by providing the reader with a seamless mixture of theory and practice garnered from her extensive experience in the field. The goal of Raising Our Children To Be Resilient is exactly what its title promises: to help children through their pain and confusion and guide them into a flexible and compassionate adulthood.

Recovering from the Loss of a Parent

K. Donnelly

- However you choose to cope—through private, inner searching or sharing your feelings with others—this book is a companion through the process of understanding and accepting your loss.

Recovering from the Loss of a Sibling

K. Donnelly

- A book of hope and healing, Recovering From the Loss of a Sibling is the first book for those who have experienced the death of a brother or sister. When a brother or sister dies, surviving siblings may receive little support or even recognition of their pain. Parents are so grief-stricken at the loss of a child that they often find themselves unable to cope with the needs of their surviving children. With family and friends concentrating on the parent's tragedy, the suffering of siblings often goes unnoticed.

Straight Talk About Death for Teenagers

E. Grollman

- Grollman offers advice and answers the kinds of questions that teens are likely to ask themselves when grieving the death of someone close.

Talking with Children About Loss

Maria Trozzi with Kathy Massimini

- Through captivating stories and thoughtful analysis, Maria Trozzi explains how to handle the difficult job of talking with children and adolescents about loss.

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

Tear Soup – A Recipe for Healing after Loss

Pat Schweibert

- Tear Soup recognizes that every member of the family from the youngest to the oldest will grieve in their own way. By emphasizing the individual process of bereavement by making soup, Tear Soup brings a warm and comfortable feeling to an otherwise difficult subject matter for many individuals.

Teen Grief Relief: Parenting with Understanding Support and Guidance

H. Horsley, G. Horsley

- Teen Grief Relief provides both parents and teens with the help they need. Shared here are teen stories, feelings, techniques, references and resources for use in not only surviving but thriving after the painful loss of a family member or close personal friend.

Teenagers Face to Face with Bereavement

C. Haskins, K. Graville

- Gravelle and Haskins asked 17 teens, all of whom have lost a relative or a close friend, to tell their stories. These responses are discussed at length from the points of view of teens and counselors, as are difficult situations which may follow a death: overprotective parents who fear another loss; observance of significant anniversaries; whether and how to tell new friends about what happened; fear of risking new relationships; reluctance to leave home to attend college. The young people speak honestly and earnestly, offering coping strategies that worked for them. Both interviewees and compilers offer hope and comfort.

Teens Write Through It: Essays From Teens who Have Triumphed Over Trouble

Faiview Press Staff

- This collection contains essays about young people's real experiences and the challenges they have faced. One sixteen-year-old writes on how her parents' divorce affected her; another writes on the strength her family had to have when her father died in a car accident.

The Bereaved Parent

Harriet Sarnoff Schiff

- Offers guidelines and step-by-step suggestions to help a parent cope with every stage of grief.

The Big Chair: A Story of Grief and Discovery

Beth Rotondo

- The Big Chair is a remarkably warm, soothing, yet honest book that is sure to soften the grief of any child or even adult who reads it. It invites readers to climb up with Anna into Mrs. Seasons' chair to surround themselves with her wisdom and comfort in sorting through the myriad of feelings associated with loss.

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

The Fall of Freddie the Leaf

Leo Buscaglia

- This story tells how Freddie and his friends, all leaves, change with the seasons, finally falling to the ground with winter's snow. Both children and adults will respond to this sensitive treatment of the delicate balance between life and death. The photographs are very effective.

The Grieving Teen

H. Fitzgerald

- The Grieving Teen is written specifically for teenagers. Fitzgerald, an expert in grief counseling and the author of The Mourning Handbook, communicates the issues clearly without oversimplifying or resorting to "teenspeak." Chapters consist of typical questions that young adults may have about grief, followed by a "What You Can Do" section.

The Healing Book

Ellen Sabin

- Interactive book designed for children/families dealing w/ loss
- Designed for 6-13 yr olds

The Moon Balloon

Joan Drescher

- This book is a powerful and healing tool for parents, teachers, and children.

The Next Place

Warren Hanson

- An inspirational journey of light and hope to a place where earthly hurts are left behind.

The Power to Prevent Suicide: A Guide for Helping Teens

J. Galas, R. Nelson

- An excellent, practical manual that is easy to read and understand. The authors' premise is that, as trusted and caring friends, teens have a special role in the prevention of suicide among their peers, and discuss what to do if they observe the danger signals.

Threads of Hope: An Offering for Those Who Grieve

Beth Rotondo

- Experiencing grief is often isolation and overwhelming and yet the majority of us have lost someone we deeply love. Threads of Hope offers those who grieve a framework to express our questions and thoughts as well as the author's understanding of the grief process. Grief renders unimaginable pain but also offers us the miracle of hope.

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

Waving Goodbye: Activities Manual for Children

The Dougy Center Staff

- 45 activities to use w/ children and teens

What about the Kids?: Understanding Their Needs

The Dougy Center Staff

- Addresses best practices in funeral and memorial services with children and teens
- Age Appropriate: Adults

When a Friend Dies: A Book for Teens About Grieving and Healing

M. Gootman

- In this update of a 1994 publication, 16 short chapters deliver helpful information on subjects including: How can I stand the pain? How should I be acting? What is "normal"? Interspersed throughout the book, and placed over muted black-and-white photos of young adults from a variety of ethnic backgrounds, are quotes by teenagers who have experienced grief.

When Children Grieve

John W. James and Russell Friedman

- This compassionate manual addresses the nature of grief, purges common myths the worst of which, the authors claim, is that time heals all wounds (only small, positive actions can heal a person, insist James, Friedman and Matthews) and encourages adults to adopt a more healthy approach to grief themselves, so that they, in turn, can help children.

When Death Impacts Your School

The Dougy Center Staff

- Resource guide for school personnel who are faced with death/tragedy in their school.
- Age Appropriate: Adults

When Parents Die: Learning to Live With the Loss of a Parent

R. Abrams

- This new edition considers in more depth the continuing importance of the deceased parent in one's life, the critical role played by the surviving parent, and the experiences of younger children, as well as the impact of other types of loss like divorce and adoption. Drawing on new research undertaken on bereavement, especially in the area of "grief work," When Parents Die is a direct and sympathetic book which will speak to all readers concerned with coping with parental loss.

When Someone You Know has Been Killed

J. Schleifer

- Discusses death and the fear of death, explains the emotions experienced when someone you know is killed, and gives strategies to cope with them.

The Moyer Foundation's National Grief Resource Guide

You Are Not Alone

L. Hughes

- Hughes, the founder of Comfort Zone Camp for grieving kids, believes that sharing experiences about losing a parent begins the healing process. Her purpose in writing the book is to let teens know that they don't have to feel isolated—there is help available for them.
